Musequality

Musequality's mission is to support communal music-making for disadvantaged boys and girls in developing countries, giving them the skills, confidence and experience they need to turn their lives around.

Musequality will close on 31st January 2015

The trustees have taken the very difficult decision to close Musequality at the end of its financial year. Details are in the newsletter we have sent all our supporters. If you are interested in supporting any of the projects direct, please email us. We will write again, by newsletter, to all our subscribers as we wind down to closure. A huge thank you to all our supporters for your generosity and encouragement over the last seven years.

I would like to thank you for having done unexpected things for us to make sure that we also come from poverty to prosperity
